

Pakistan is my birthplace, and this land has deep roots. I love little things about this country and people. I know there are a lot of rumors about my country or you have listened to false news on media. But the true colors of Pakistan represent a different image.

Let us clear one thing – Pakistan is an unsafe country; this fact is nothing but just exaggerated news. It is a place filled with colors of love, beauty, and people. Pakistan got the best taste in food. Diverse cultures are merged, and people here love to eat.

In Pakistan, you can see the mother nature in its true color. Northern areas are beautiful, and you can visit different places without putting much burden on your pocket.

Usually, people afraid to visit Pakistan because they considered it a terrorist country. But the real picture gives a beautiful glimpse. I faced true horrible situation when people asked weird questions. We have faced many casualties and harsh situation that include floods, Earthquakes, or bomb blasting. But it doesn't mean we are a terrorist country.

I usually try my best to convince people. Although there are many problems, Pakistan is the best place to live. I accept that we have many demanding situations to faced that include acid victims as well. But where there is positivity, there is always an array of negativity. It does not mean we have to deny with the pure color of Pakistan.

I have a gloomy feeling for Pakistan. It is not just my birth land, but a homeland that has millions of loving soul and peaceful hearts with innovative perspectives. It is a place where people love to share values and make life easy for each other.

Pakistan is facing devastating periods because of the current situation. The outbreak of the CORONA virus makes life difficult. We are already under a developing country, and with the coronavirus, things become more difficult to control. There is a huge increase in unemployment, but still, people are trying their best for survival.

High and low are the part of life, but we need to gaze at the optimistic side of life. If you explore the streets of Pakistan, you will see that this country possesses a store of talent. However, I agree that a problem arises when it comes to promoting talent.

Core Problems of Pakistan

If you talk about the problems of Pakistan, they are indeed numberless. But with every hardship, there is some hidden blessing. You may hear in the news that there is an extreme shortage of gas and light in Pakistan. Well, it is true. There is load shedding issue of gas and electricity. It badly disturbs business and other production areas. People are facing unemployment, and industries are badly collapsing.

PM of Pakistan trying to resolve issues and facilitating people to come out of their hardship. But the outbreak of the coronavirus makes things difficult. Nowadays, there is a smart lockdown in the market.

Sometimes, it is not about how you take the situation, but all about looking at the bright side. Pakistani people considered every solution to get out of the problem. They are trying their best to get out of the pandemic situation and make ease for the people. I think love for the people beyond the race of colour and religion matters a lot.

Problems are a major part of life, but how you behave to gather solution matters a lot.

Now, let's talk how it feels to be a woman in Pakistan.

To Be A Woman in Pakistan

If you look at the true big picture, it is not easy to live as a woman in Pakistan. With every footstep, there will be a break or dig to pass. In Pakistan, women belong to different sector, or I must say class. There are three differential classes in Pakistan, Low-Medium-Upper.

Women who belong to the working class faces different issues. The working women belong to factory workers, childcare, domestic servants, agriculture laborers. The other working-class women belong to schoolteachers, colleges professors or some other are computer engineers, doctors.

Educating yourself in Pakistan is huge trouble if you belong to a low section. There are infinite hurdles. Women have to fight with the basic rights and bearing the expenses of education is another big issue. There is another issue of equality or be treated equally to the men.

Pakistan, with all the modern development, is a patriarchal society, and sometimes this made women stuck to live a life of peace.

Women belong to the lower sector face domestic violence, child marriage, emotional abuse, and they even fight to have safe transportation. But as compared to the men, they remain at the second-class citizen of the society. Alas, this increase illiteracy rate and women are closed in the four sides of the room for the rest of life.

Different movements have begun in Pakistan to empower the women. In these movements, they have addressed the basic right of the women, and their right to live a peaceful life.

I belong to the medium sector of Pakistan, where you have to work hard to achieve dreams. But I have different issues. My family is liberal, so, fortunately, I do not face any conservative issues that include studying in CO education or working with the males. My parents have defined some limits that I have to follow. Like not to hang out with friends late at night.

But if I looked around my area, some girls are not allowed to study after high school. Because their families think that if they take part in higher education, their thinking level will exceed limits. Normally such people belong to the lower sector of Pakistan.

Despite the problems in Pakistan, women are trying to spread awareness of working equal to men. They are making efforts to gather the basic rights of their life.

Women of Pakistan are strong, courageous, and most importantly, they are making an effort to bring change in other life too. They are trying to solve the problems by representing a clear picture of their existence to society. A special Thanks to NGO's of Pakistan, they are supporting them to grow and raising their voice for equal rights.

Media usually portrait bad picture of Pakistan and highlights the half story. They visualize them a terrorist country or a conservative one. Although the reality is different, in Pakistan, you will meet with different kind of people. You will see positive energies and good vibes of people that tend to solve the problem. People put effort to solve the problem even if they have a lack of resources.

Things to Know About Pakistani Culture

If a Pakistani visit an international country, they have to face the question of explaining their cultural values. They face a dilemma to explain things related to culture because of the media-news exaggeration.

But Pakistani culture is diverse and color. I will portrait a true picture of Pakistan that reflect our real values. Pakistan influence multiple cultures that include Persian, Indian, South Asian, Western Asians, Central Asians. Because of the multiple cultures, there is an extreme diversity of customs, food, historical bloodlines, and music.

There are different languages spoken in Pakistan. The actively spoken languages range from 75 to 76. Most languages in Pakistan belong to Indo-Iranian. Urdu is the national language of Pakistan.

Due to Islamic values, people are friendly and behave morally. People are helpful, humble, and approachable. The couples do not kiss or hug in public. People are highly obedient towards their values.

Pakistani People love to listen to music and have an Artistic Approach.

The diverse culture of Pakistan has exposed musicians and artists. Along with the different languages, people are passionate to take part in poetry, qawwali, and ghazal. Pakistani dramas are famous all over the world. They are performing world-class acting and building TV shows like Coke studio.

Coke studio is the most famous show, and it gains huge popularity on an international scale. This nation has legendary singers, like Faiz Ahmed Faiz, Rahat Fateh Ali Khan and they have a tremendous influence on people. People have developed fusions in rock, jazz, blues.

Strong Family Bonding in Pakistan

For Pakistani people family values comes first and they priorities family over anything. Pakistani society is collective, and they have strong family terms. Due to the cultural and societal values, they are humble and stand strong against family members.

Pakistan Culture Excellent Craftsmanship

Pakistan is famous all over the world for craftsmanship. Pakistan crafts include diversity and plethora of styles. They have the best experts in doing Arabic calligraphy and in local buildings it is one of the most famous skill. Other crafts include carved wood, copper woods and paintings. The art of making lamps with camel skin is famous in Pakistan Sindh side.

A little fun fact about Pakistan,

People love tea a little too much.

Pakistani people are big chai lover, probably in a similar sense as people love to take alcohol. Moreover, Pakistan is the third people importer of tea. They made tea using strong tea and sweet milk. Sometimes in a different section of Pakistan, they add cardamom and other spices.

Pakistani Loves to Play Cricket:

Cricket was introduced to Pakistan by British. Pakistan has the best cricket team, and they play on the national level with other countries. People love to watch cricket tournaments in Pakistan. Other sportspeople love to play include hockey, badminton, squash. People in the northern area love to play Polo. One of the highest polo grounds is situated in Pakistan

Pakistani People are Handworkers:

Pakistan is under developing country, and they do not have resources like other countries do. People work here day and night to earn some pennies. They are highly motivated to do work and solves problems by their best means.

Although the economic condition of the country is not so good, and the unemployment rate is increasing rapidly. Still, people are working hard to create opportunities and earn some money. They continue to hope and work hard to make a bright future.

I remember when I was in college, I faced a bad financial condition. My father business crushed badly, and I have to take charge of many things. I started looking for online work and work hard. Being Pakistani working with an international client become hard. I do not have English as a native language, and I worked hard to overcome this barrier.

Let me show you a colorful aspect of Pakistan,

Weddings in Pakistan:

Pakistani weddings show diverse cultures and spend a huge amount in a single function. A simple local function has different traditions. Pakistani weddings are laden with sizzling food, beautiful decor with flowers, decoration of the stage. There is a separate dance floor, and a Pakistani wedding is all about fun, love, and care.

The local function of a wedding lasts for three to seven days. It is started with the henna night, dance night then baarat. The wedding session ends with the last function of valiha. There are dinner's parties both by the bride and groom family side.

Pakistani People got a Calm Chill nature and enjoyed distinct colors of life.

They love to participate in new things, and just like diversity in their culture, they love to support new things. Whatever they do, they do excitement and zest. They love to celebrate small things no matter it is a small friend treat or a close family function. Family gathering and throwing parties are very famous in Pakistan.

Travelling in Pakistan:

If you are planning to visit Pakistan, I will tell you the reasons why it should be your best trip ever. I am going to mention some you are going to love.

Historical Monuments:

In Pakistan, there is a center Mughal Empire, and it is filled with beautiful architecture. Different historical landmarks include beautiful Badshahi Mosque, Lahore fort, Mohata Palace in Karachi if you want to see shrines and castles, cities of Bahawalpur and Multan filled with many breath-taking views.

Mohenjo-Daro:

Mohenjo-Daro considered as one of the most attractive places to visit. This place is famous throughout the world, and Pakistanis love to visit this place repeatedly. It is 5000 years old and first discovered in 1922.

Another famous historical place of Pakistan:

Minar-e-Pakistan:

This place is amazing; it is known as the "Tower of Pakistan." It is situated in the Lahore, and it was built in 1968. The resolution of Pakistan passed at this place. This place is attractively built and has green greenery around its corner. Tourist love to visit this place and considered as the best spot for exploring best things in Pakistan.

Northern Areas:

If you want to explore the true color of nature, northern areas of Pakistan are magical. You will find yourself connected and peace their expose something different. Or you may find it connected with your inner.